Blessings unto the heart, the mind, and the soul of your beings. I am Lady Master Natasha. Beloved ones, it is with the greatest of joy that we, the Council of Eight, interact with your beings in this manner.

What you are living is called life. Where you are living it determines what kind of life you are living, and by this we mean if you are living mentally, then you are creating in your mind scenarios that may or may not be the truth of what your soul is living. If you are living in your emotions, the kind of life you are living is censored as it were if they are downward spiraling energies.

If you are living in your vibrations, the goal would be to be attuned in every moment to the vibrations that you require. Whether they come from a frequency device, whether they come from food, whether they come from dancing, whether they come from ceremonies, the attunement to the vibrations is essential. What is the real life you are living? That is a question that does not have an answer because it assumes there is a real life.

If you ponder this, beloveds, you will get closer and closer to recognizing and remembering yourself as the creator of your now, which is simply that. You may call it life if you desire, you may call it your life if you desire, but what we wish to share with you in these moments is that on your planet, as you are experiencing it in these moments, you are going to be, we might use the word tested on your intuition because as artificial intelligence answers more phones, writes more Google summaries, gets more and more involved in the communication aspect of your quote unquote life, you are going to find that the instinctive way you had of knowing if someone was speaking a truth or not will be missing because the artificial intelligence does not have a sub-level for you to tap into to feel whether the information coming to you is falsehood or truth. Spirit in human form is not just a physical form.

You already know you have levels of consciousness and you know that these levels of consciousness as you speak can be recorded and played backwards and you can hear a secondary conversation at the same time you've had one that your ears are hearing. There is another conversation going on between the subconscious of whomever is speaking. Whomever you are speaking with, your subconscious goes back and forth and this is how you know when there is truth and when there is not truth because your subconscious can decipher the wisdom, the acuity, the validity of the person you are speaking with.

But when it becomes artificial intelligence, there is no subconscious. There is just simply the information that the quote unquote intelligence has gathered and is presenting and currently in its development it is gathered from anything that has been posted anywhere. So there is this effect of consuming the quantity of information available and then summarizing it and then presenting it in bullets and sometimes it lets you know where it got the information from so you can go there and find more for yourself.

But this is a time in life and we're calling it life with quotation marks because we the Council of Eight believe every one of you hearing these words could benefit from redefining life for yourself. Redefining life. You know what it was when it was fully 3D.

You know what it was when it was you, spirit in physical form, on earth, third dimension. You experiment with what is it when you are creating as the god you are, god, goddess that you are. You are creating and seeing what you bring about.

How do you change things? How do you initiate things? What does the world look like, sound like, feel like, smell like, etc. Because you are the one creating it. Holographs in your sky have been happening without you knowing it.

Artificial intelligence talking to you as though it were the ultimate intelligence has been happening and now you are knowing it. You will be required, beloveds, to use your knowledge and your wisdom in different ways to be able to access what is true. You live in a world now where the internet, which has connected everyone around your globe as it were, can be used to falsify anything and everything.

Life, quote unquote, is now someone's definition when they take artwork and they make it look like this, that, or the other. And post it as real. Change is coming.

You are already in it. Skin does not always look like skin anymore. It has become a mural.

It is full of colors. Hair is not born color as it were. It is any color.

Clothing tastes change. Architecture changes. Rules change.

But what is, quote unquote, real any longer? Anything can be photoshopped and released as a news report. Why? Because in your world now, the internet is used as a way for anyone to make money. And how do you make money? By having that which is fantastic, that which is stupendous, that which is breaking news, that which is new, different, unusual, that which is warnings.

There is almost a limitless array to what can be posted simply because if you are really, really good at what you do, more and more people will click, and you will have more cha-ching in your life. So, this life, quote unquote, that you are living is rectangular, is it not? You are looking at us in a rectangular format, are you not? We may be speaking through a form, but chances are you are looking at us through a rectangle. And when you close the rectangle, we are gone.

You do not see us. So, the questions, many questions for yourself. How will you know? What will you know? What can you know? What is life anymore? What is, quote unquote, real? And what is fabricated? We, the Council of Eight, are not yet fabricated.

But with all of the technology available, it's highly possible that images can be taken and used and created and false words can be placed and created. You must begin thinking this way in terms of creation, not in terms of what is good and what is bad. But if everyone has access to recordings and voice modifications, now they have cameras, as it were, where you can take the head of your president and put it on something that looks like his body, dressed like his body that is not his body, that is someone else wearing his videoed head moving around dancing to the music.

And you can do this with anyone. So, who you are looking at may not really be who you are looking at. So, what kind of life is it, beloveds, if you never know or cannot know or have to work to know who is real, what is real, what is altered, what cannot be altered? Is there anything that cannot be altered? You are not in Kansas anymore, as it were.

As we set this out for you to think about and ponder, perhaps you will come up with questions that you would like asked, because we, the Council of Eight, believe that this generation that is hearing us now are some of the last who will remember what real once was. And the word reality has the word real in it. What is real? And is what you once knew as real? Was it really real? Was it only because you didn't have TV yet and you didn't have internet yet that made it real, because you were interacting with people instead of rectangles? You were interacting with what you could touch and your five senses could tell you existed, instead of just what your eyes perceive and your ears hear from a rectangle.

Now, this could be, if you decide to let it be, a very enjoyable and fun and carefree kind of existence, or it could be filled with fear. You are wise enough now in your awakenings to know that what you emanate is what you create and what you attract. We have been teaching this, teaching this, teaching this in so many ways for all of our incarnations here with you, because habit is how you create and how you uncreate.

You train yourselves into habit, yes? You train yourselves to become what you are seeking and what you wish to emanate. Some of you have noticed that the weather is responding to your requests as of late. That the requests are something you thought was impossible, and yet it has happened.

And so, what is life? When you were born, those who are hearing this, life was spirit in a physical form on a physical planet in a third dimension with limited capacity for longevity. What if there is no longer a limited capacity for longevity? What if you are already in a place that might be called heaven because you are focusing on what you desire these days instead of what you do not? What if you were already in a place where what you think, what you feel, what you emanate is happening even as you are thinking it, and you are only limited because you still believe in time? How much time it takes for something to happen? How much time it takes to get well? How much time it takes to read a book? How much time it takes to cook something? How much time it takes for something to grow in your garden? How much time it takes to learn something? How long you have to study? How much time it takes to recharge the physical form, if indeed it is still physical as it were? Some of you are noticing that no matter what you eat these days, your weight is staying the same. It is not fluctuating.

Some of you are noticing that the routines that you once lived in terms of sleeping, in terms of food, in terms of exercise, in terms of anything that you defined as life while you were growing up, as it were, is no longer so. Why would that be? You, God, are the reason. And the more that you engage in it with yourself and then have conversations about it with others, the more you will begin to emanate and be able to answer the questions we have asked of you in this session.

Yes, we, the Council of Eight, will be bringing you now messages. Yes, it is true we could not get through in the manner that would have been necessary, just as Master Chuni Lin also could not. We have mentioned the turbulence in this month of December.

What if you as a group, with a mindset that is already linked together and that has already proven it can make changes in reality, what if you as a group took the idea of the rest of the time remaining in December and altered it so it was not tumultuous but instead it was uplifting and it fed you in a way that thrills your being, whatever that is. You do not all have to have the same goal or the same thrill. You can just have the same concept that it will be more than you've experienced and better than you've experienced and not a tumultuous ride at all.

You could call it peaceful if you like but some of you do not like peace, you like a little challenge. You could call it heartfelt or heart song if you like because you would be connected that way better as it were to your higher wisdom. Some of you could call it just letting go and letting God, that is a favorite phrase on planet earth, yes let go and let God, whoever this God is, well it is you and so if you let go that means you are letting go of what inhibited you and you are letting the God that is within you have free reign to bring about what is in your heart song because you see some of you when asked to create you go blank, you have a big question mark over your head, well what should I create? Well I don't exactly know what to create you think to yourself.

So in this phrase let go and let God, the God of you is already clued in because you set the parameters, you set the parameters that life is better and better and better than the God of you already knows what to create. Throw in the joy factor, put in what you desire whether it's people or no people, whether it's change or no change, whether it's something that's brand new and has never happened before or whether it's not. You are going to notice that in this coming year 2025 you are going to notice that all that you have been studying and learning in the world of spirituality and how to keep yourself healthy is going to be what others are seeking.

The good thing beloveds for you is that you are quote unquote old enough to be believed, you have lived it, you are not the quote unquote young whippersnappers who are doing this and saying that just to have their YouTube channel as it were or their Patreon channel as it were or whatever channel that you use so that others can monetize your wisdom and you can jingle to the bank. We beloveds say you are in a moment now, this moment now in this time when joy can increase itself more than you have ever experienced it before. The joy factor can be magnified and you are thirsty and hungry for that joy factor.

Allow yourself to magnify it and bring it in. Imagine everything that you think could not happen that you wish could happen. Start focusing on that.

We tell you wholeheartedly beloveds start focusing on what you wish could happen that you believe could not happen. Because you see you have been short-circuiting yourself. You have been in the energy and in the arena of magic and creating but you still have been holding on to some of what you think takes time.

Some of what you think is not yet possible that you have to wait for. Namaste to the heart, the mind, the soul of your beings. Radiate, emanate, create.

So be it.
